Roll Call Vote Showing: Ayes - Banks, Bergeron, Gear, Pennington, Raspberry, Wadsworth. Naves - None. Motion Carried Unanimously.

3D Motion by Pennington, supported by Wadsworth, to concur with the recommendation of the Planning Commission and City Planners and deny the request to rezone a 76+ acre parcel of land, PC-007-03-87, located on the north side of Wick Road between Wayne Road and the C & O Railroad tracks from RM (Multi Family) to RMH (Residential Mobile Home District) for the purpose of constructing a Mobile Home Park. Denial is based on evidence presented in several meetings with studies made by the staff of the City of Romulus and Petition filed, containing Three hundred, fifty (350) signatures of citizens opposed to the rezoning. On March 19, 1976 the development of this property for RM (Multiple Family Use) and the City Master Plan adopted in 1976 designated the subject site for Multiple Family Use. The petitioners have not submitted any evidence that the property can not be developed as it is presently zoned, nor are there any known land use conditions that have changed since 1976. All studies and reports have indicated the present zoning is the best use for the property, therefore, we see no reason to make any changes.

1988: Lawmakers see wastes, jail as key challenges

By JANICE FRITZ
ANP Staff Writer

Americans by the thousands will be resolving to "do better" in their personal lives during 1988. New goals will be set, and a new agenda will be plotted. Lawmakers in the area — local, state and federal — are no exception. Below we have outlined the top priorities area lawmakers see for 1988, priorities they will address when they return to their respective positions after the holiday recess.

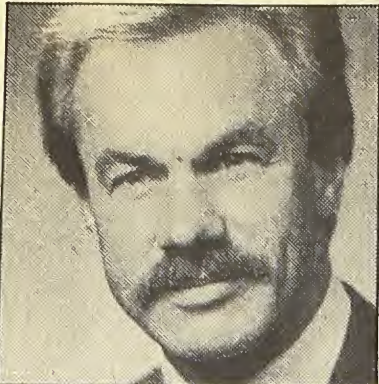

State Sen. William Faust
(D-Westland)

"I have been working on a package of bills which, if passed, would call for a stricter enforcement of highway truck safety. I want to see to it that semi-trucks be brought up to date. This has been recommended by a task force created by Gov. Blanchard. The task force consists of people who work in the department of highway safety and the insurance and transportation people, too. We would like to see the installation of recorder boxes in semi-trucks, similar in nature to those boxes which are found in airplanes.

"On a more local level, I will be continuing to work on generating more public interest in the getting a public library built in the city of Westland. I did a lot of work in the last campaign, and the defeat of a mileage increase for this construction in the Nov. 3 election was a real disappointment. So I will continue my efforts for that cause.

"One final goal I have is to enact a couple more of the drug awareness programs for various high schools in the area. The one I sponsored a few months ago, which took place at Wayne Memorial High School, was a real success, and I hope to have one in Romulus and Taylor during the school year in 1988."

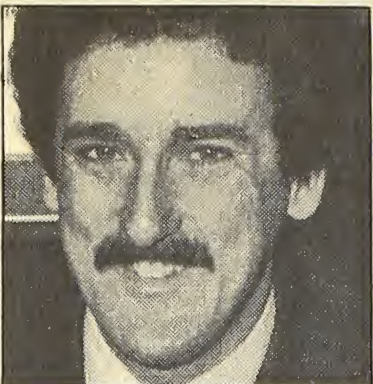

State Rep. James Kosteva
(D-Canton Township)

I hope to devote a lot of time this year to continue to move the state toward environmental purity and to reduce environmental waste. We need to find other options for where we can store waste materials, besides landfills.

— Jim Kosteva

... to continue looking for new waste disposal options so that we can get away from the current problems that come from relying on landfills. I'd like to continue my goal of establishing a solid waste ranking system which would continue through to the year 2000.

— Milt Mack

Prison overcrowding is also a real problem that needs to be solved. I'm trying to see if we can't implement having more prisoners to a cell, while maintaining proper environmental conditions. There has to be a way to keep the criminals off the street.

— Justine Barns

I want to see to it that semi-trucks be brought up to date. This has been recommended by a task force created by Gov. Blanchard. We would like to see the installation of recorder boxes in semi-trucks, similar in nature to those boxes which are found in airplanes.

— William Faust

stands, we do have some federally-funded programs for "Head Start" programs, but a lot of families wind up not being able to qualify for these programs because they may make only a bit more than the low-income required for them to qualify. We need something to allow more people to qualify.

"A lot of kids need that extra start prior to kindergarten. If they don't get a good start, their entire educational experience can be ruined for the rest of their years in school.

"I'm very concerned about those families affected by the closing last year of the General Motors Leaseway Plant. These were people with many years of seniority and with families to support. Of course, while many people lost their jobs last year with the closing of Leaseway, there are many more people being hired to work at the new Van Dresser Corp., which is now located in the vacated Leaseway plant. So I'm hoping that Van Dresser will be a big plus to the community, especially to those people laid off from GM. Maybe they can be hired at this new corporation and will be able to regain their confidence."

U.S. Rep. Sander Levin
(D-Southfield)

"1988 holds many challenges for us. . . we need more progress on budget deficit reduction, passing a trade bill that will begin to cut our $170 billion trade deficit, developing AIDS awareness and prevention initiative and reversing the policies of neglect suffered by the jobless, the homeless and the hungry.

"We are also 'face to face' with a number of foreign-policy challenges, particularly with the new opportunity we have for a true nuclear arms reduction.

"We need clear police direction. In the Middle East and Central America, we must continue to voice our strong support for progress in international human rights including South Africa, the Soviet Union and Afghanistan.

Right to Know seminars set

A special round of educational seminars concerning the Michigan Right to Know Law will include a local meeting site.

The seminar will begin at 9 a.m. Thursday, Jan. 21 in the Melvin Bailey Recreation Center, 36651 Ford Road, behind the Westland City Hall, Westland.

Those in attendance will receive information and training on requirements of the law and practical aspects for setting up and running a hazard communications program in the workplace. The seminar will address "Occupational Right to Know" and not "SARA" or the federal Community Right to Know.

Topics for the discussion will include "Who and What is Covered by the Law," "Employer's Responsibilities Under the Law," "Employees Rights and Responsibilities," "Labeling of Chemicals in the Workplace," "Material Safety Data Sheets," "What Constitutes a Written Hazard Communication program" and "Enforcement of the Law."

There is no charge for the seminar, but advance registration is required by calling (517) 322-1514. Enrollment is limited.

Drunk drivers beware

"Give a Friend a Ride" project will be in effect from 8 p.m. to 6 a.m. Thursday, Dec. 31. The program is the result of coordinated efforts between the Michigan State Police, Mothers Against Drunk Drivers and several local police departments.

In the program, any citizen who feels he should not be behind the wheel should call the Wayne County Sheriff's Road Patrol offices at 942-2222. Depending on the citizen's location, every effort will be made on behalf of the sheriff's department and local police department to "Give a Friend a Ride," according to Wayne County Sheriff Robert Ficano.

A message from Oakwood Health Services...

Put your family to the test.

Because what you don't know about your cholesterol level can hurt you.

So the first, and perhaps most important, step toward reducing the risk of heart disease is cholesterol testing. For everyone. At every age, from 5 and up.

That's why Oakwood Health Services and the American Health Foundation are providing, as part of a national program, cholesterol level testing.

Simply bring your family to any of the testing locations listed below. There's no fasting required.

And for just $6 per person, and about 30 minutes of their time, your family can learn something very important about themselves. Their cholesterol level. They will also receive a cholesterol information packet which includes helpful dietary guidelines.

Recorder care is key to quality

Some common problems with your video cassette recorder can be avoided with proper precautions, according to Bruce Phillips, owner of Discount Video, Belleville.

Phillips said one of the biggest hazards to the VCR unit is that of foreign objects being inserted into the unit, such as paper, candy and other objects children find in the house. The opening for inserting tapes is very inviting to young children, Phillips said, and repair shop workers often receive VCR units with such a problem. The cost of this type of repair, he continued, is sometimes more than the cost of the VCR.

A few suggestions for the VCR owner, Phillip said, include explaining to children that the VCR is not a toy, never letting young children use the machine without supervision and using the dust cover when the VCR is not in use.

Another common problem for VCR owners, Phillips said, is the overheating of the unit. This can be video viewpoints

caused by blocked air vents on the VCR. Ensuring that the unit has the proper ventilation will eliminate this worry, Phillips explained, especially when the VCR is placed in an entertainment center.

The use of "cheap" tapes can also cause the VCR owner several problems, Phillips said. Poor-quality tapes can cause damage to the delicate playback heads in the machine. Phillips said to make sure all blank tapes have the letters "VCR" stamped on the box. This marking shows that the tapes meet U.S. government standards, he said.

Using brand name tapes will eliminate this worry, Phillips said. These tapes may cost a few cents more, but they will also last longer, have better picture quality and have less of a chance of damaging the VCR unit.

A regular cleaning schedule is also very important for every VCR owner, Phillips said. Because everyone's viewing habits are different, cleaning frequencies also vary. However, he said, the information booklet provided with the VCR will help the owner decide what cleaning schedule is best for the machine.

Finally, Phillips said that if a VCR owner is hesitant about cleaning the unit at home, a qualified service department should be contacted. It is much better to be safe than sorry, Phillips reminded VCR owners.

1987 'Person of the Year' nominees sought by paper

Who was the most influential and important news-maker in our area during 1987?

We want our readers to answer that question.

The Associated Newspapers is sponsoring the 1987 Person of the Year Award for people in the areas served by our six newspapers - The Wayne Eagle, The Westland Eagle, The Canton Eagle, The Inkster Ledger-Star, The Romulus Roman and The Belleville Enterprise.

One individual will be chosen as the 1987 Associated Newspapers Person of the Year, and five runners-up will also be honored, one from each of the five remaining newspaper coverage areas.

Nominations will be accepted until 5 p.m. Friday, Jan. 8 at the main office of the newspaper, 35540 Michigan Ave., Wayne. Nominations can be informal in nature, as long as all forms submitted include the following information: nominee name, business or personal address, city, affiliation name (if applicable), phone number, reason this person should be the Person of the Year, name, address and phone number of person submitting form. Reason for nominating should include as many reasons as possible to demonstrate a person's influential powers and newsworthiness during 1987.

Winners will be highlighted in the Wednesday, Jan. 20 edition of the six Associated Newspapers. A profile of each winner will be included in the paper, and gifts to the winners will be awarded.

Individuals to be nominated do not necessarily need an affiliation with a political group, civic organization or business. Scope of the award is to honor outstanding community activists and those who have contributed much to the betterment of our communities.

Nomination forms are also available at the newspaper offices.

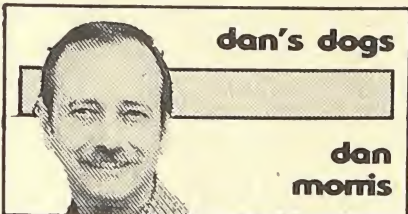

Letting the pet go won't be easy

For one reason or another, there may come a time when we can no longer keep our dog. Perhaps a move into an apartment complex is desired, and the apartment management doesn't allow pets. Maybe there is illness in the family, and giving the the dog proper attention becomes impossible. Then, there may be employment requirements of extensive travel or overtime, and the dog would be alone too long or have to be kenneled too often.

Whatever the reason, finding ourselves in the position of having to place our dog in another home is traumatic and sad.

One important thing to remember is that the dog will adjust to its new owner and environment eventually.

A former student, who now has to find another home for her dog, has made a sad situation a bit more tolerable by providing "visitation" rights to her dog's future owner. Since she will not be moving from her house for a few more months, she has invited her dog's future owner to stop by each weekend to visit the dog, become familiar to the dog and ease any uncertainty in her mind, as well as in her dog's mind that the new owner will be the very best replacement she could find.

On occasion, the future owner will take the dog for a ride in the car or a walk through the area. The dog and his new owner are building a bond - slowly but surely - and when he finally comes for the dog to take him home for good, the dog won't be insecure and the adjustment will have been an easier one on account of the previous owner's total consideration for her dog's feelings.

A situation like the one above is not always possible. To make the transfer of your dog to another home is heartbreaking. Before you relinquish your dog to someone else, make certain they're the right person.

If it turns out your dog has to go to a complete stranger's home, rest assured he will adjust. There may be a period of a few days "mourning" the loss of his previous owner. The dog may whine, sulk and refuse to eat. Usually this only lasts a short period of time, and the dog gradually accepts his new owners and his new surroundings.

It's a good idea to brief the new owners on the personality temperament and various actions of the dog. Give them the shot record and any other important papers pertaining to the dog and the remainder of the dog's food. If the dog had training, teach them what he already knows.

It's best not to visit the dog once it has left your home. It isn't fair to him or the people who now love him.

Opinion

A price we pay

Nobody ever said this would be easy. They were right.

It isn't easy to tell a dear personal friend that he won't receive the endorsement of the local newspaper for political office because someone else is more qualified.

It isn't easy to control personal opinion when writing reports about the actions of a politician whom we think is less than honest and project an objective view of the situation.

It isn't easy to listen to criticism of every action taken, because no matter what we do or say, somebody doesn't agree with us.

And it certainly isn't easy to be the best...and it's even harder to stay that way.

Success brings with it, in every field detractors and the envy of those who want the accolades of achievement without the work associated with gaining the respect and admiration of peers. Recently, when The Associated Newspapers judged as one of the best weekly newspapers in the state by the University of Michigan Press Club, a number of people decided that we made a fine target for lies and innuendo which could, and in many cases did, detract from our achievement.

The opinions of a real newspaper are found on this page, and on this page only. We don't editorialize or offer opinions of our own anywhere else. That's an iron-clad rule. We don't allow our personal feelings, good or bad, to influence our reporting or our reporters. A newspaper that cannot make the claim and prove it, isn't a newspaper at all, but a personal product of a monumental ego pretending to understand a profession only glimpsed from afar.

Newspapers, real newspapers, are run by professionals with years of experience and knowledge. People who understand the rules and operate within the confines of a code of morals and ethics as strict as that imposed upon doctors and lawyers.

We are one of the finest weekly newspapers in the state...and according to some University of Michigan Journalism professors, one of the best in the country. We aren't going to change except to get better, and we aren't going to compromise our ethics or our principles for anyone, anything or any amount of money.

It isn't easy...but it's worth it to be the best.

A fond farewell

It is never easy to say goodbye.

But Canton Township will be doing just that soon to the leadership and community service of Steve Larson...and although many do not realize it just yet, this is a sad farewell indeed.

Steve Larson has dedicated his time, his efforts, his skill and his talent to the betterment of his community for many years and the leadership and wisdom he brought to the turbulent politics in Canton will be sorely missed. He is a genuine leader and a man of principle and integrity, both qualities he brought in abundance to his home town.

Larson recently tendered his resignation from his seat on the Canton Township Board of Trustees as he and his family are moving out of the area.

Larson is a man who could always be counted on to vote on any issue in the manner his conscience dictated as doing the most good for the most people. Many tried to sway him with elegant rhetoric and many attempted to shout him down. None were successful. Larson would state his case, argue it hotly if necessary, but always, and without exception, listen to the arguments of others with an open mind and a compromising nature. But his principles were never compromised, and neither were his ethics or his beliefs.

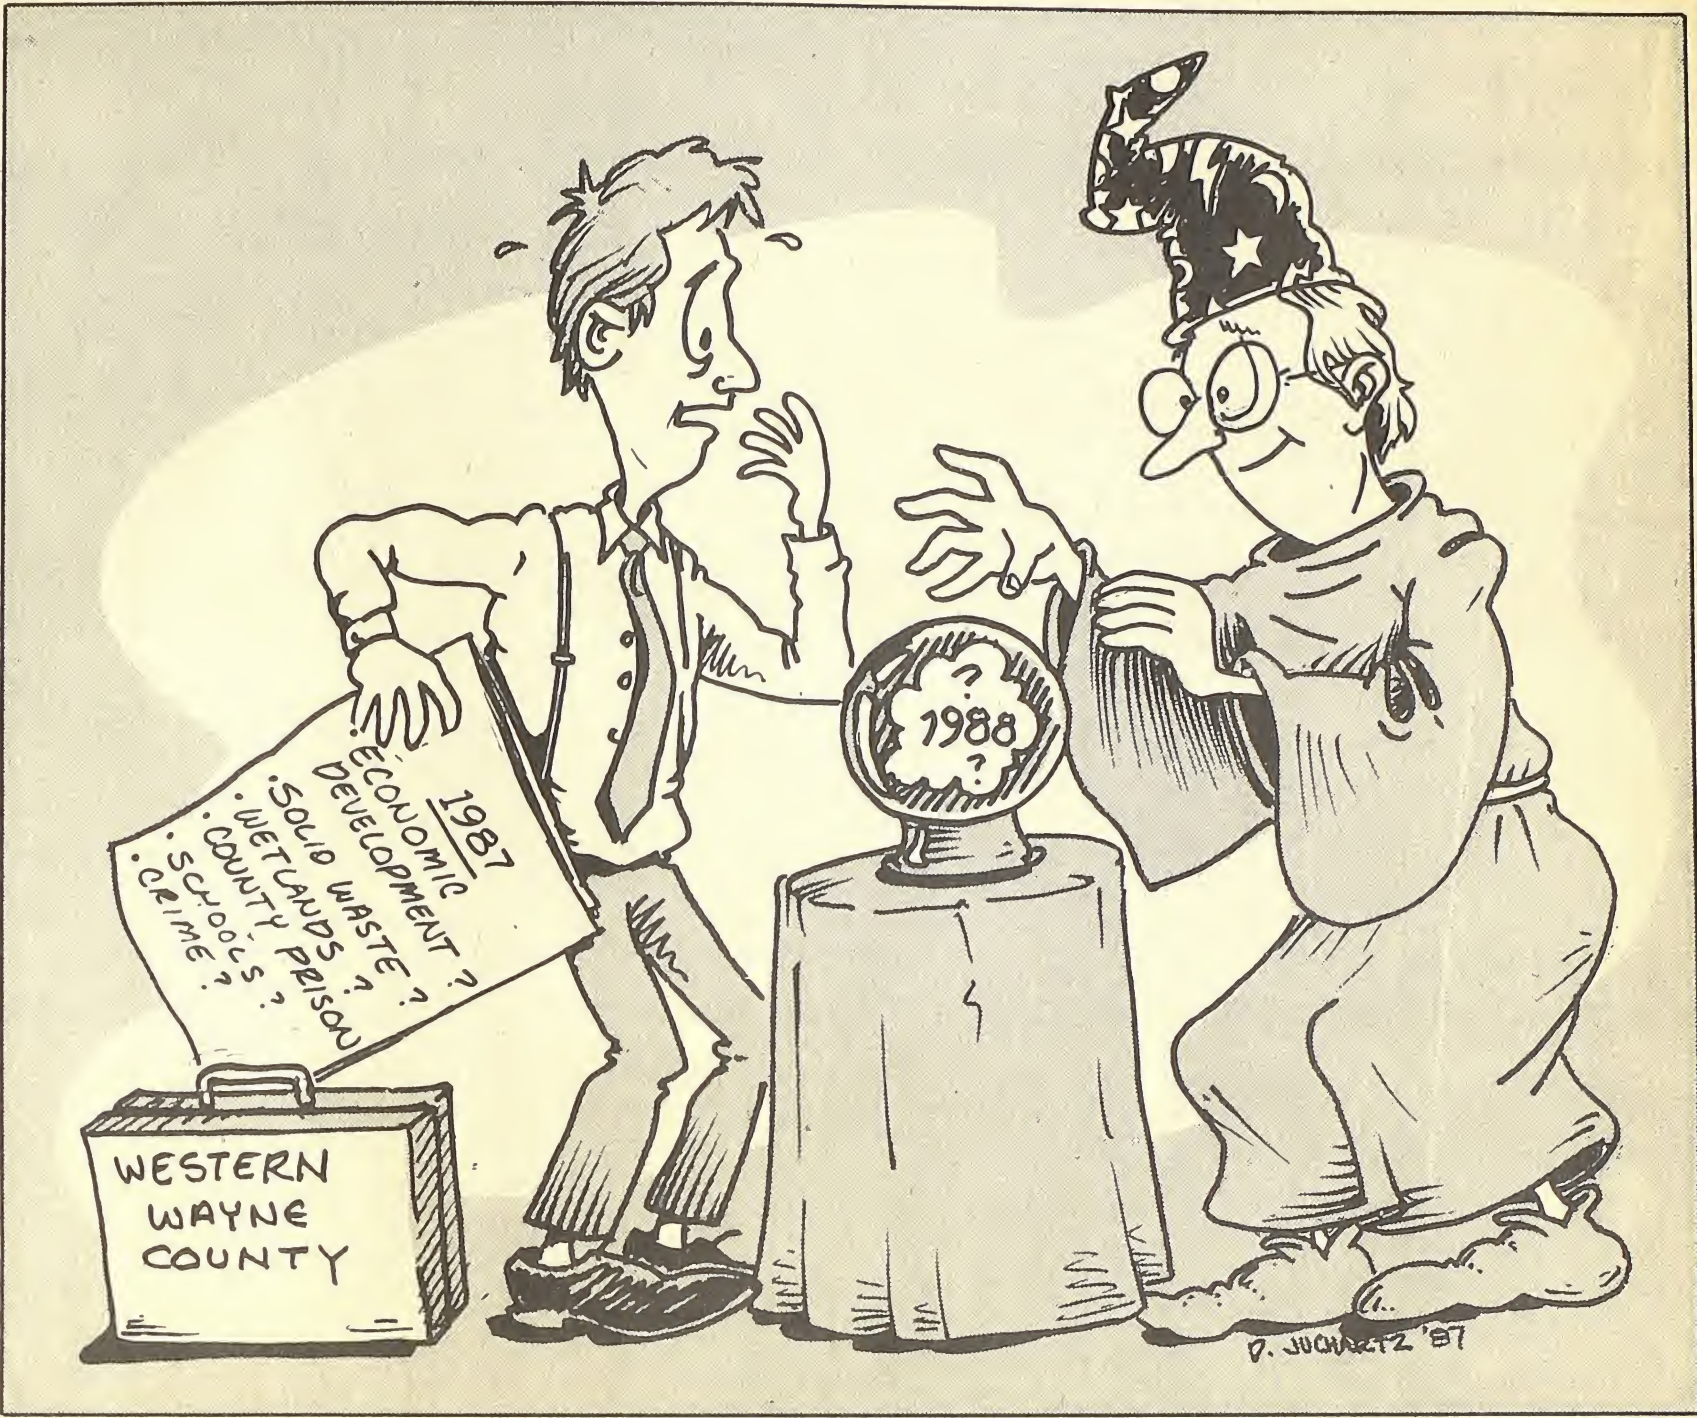

He kept his sense of humor in the face of hot debate, meetings that continued until 5 a.m. and public ridicule of his community. He continually and consistently attempted to make the place he lived a better community--for himself and for everyone else who lived there. While many stood around muttering complaints about local government, Larson stepped up to the challenge and attempted to change his corner of the world.

What finer purpose can there be?

Even those who didn't agree with Larson on most issues will admit that he is a man deserving of the respect and the gratitude of his community.

Steve Larson served his community well. His is an absence that will be felt deeply in Canton and he is leaving some giant-sized shoes to fill.

Steve Larson was an exemplary public servant. And he's one hell of a fine human being.

Back to the future

Since man first tumbled to the notion of time, we have been contemplating the future, and what it may hold.

As the calendar recycles next week, a new year commences and invariably the speculation about what the year ahead, and all the years that follow, will bring to us individually and collectively begins.

As our chronological age increases, we tend to hear the clock ticking louder and it seems that the hands of time run faster.

When we ponder that the start of the 21st century is but a mere twelve years away, we become acutely aware that time is marching on.

So what do the years ahead hold for us? Will the world be a better place in the future, or will generations to come look back with envy. Will the children of tomorrow wish they had been born in the "golden years" we have just survived?

Will we overcome diseases such as cancer, the common cold and heart ailments, only to have our population decimated by the scourge of our era, AIDS?

Perhaps we will at long last end the terrifying nuclear arms race between the two super-powers, yet be forced to deal with the likes of Libya's Khadafy armed with chemicals and gas as his tools of war. Without the "big threat" we will be forced to fight a war of survival against a man who has little to lose and everything to gain.

Surely the electronic revolution will continue to advance. Everything that magnifies, multiplies, or speeds the human senses or capabilities will become more prevalent.

flyng solo

If a device can help us to see, hear, feel, smell, or sense to a greater degree, we will probably be offered the opportunity to buy one in the future.

When the launching of space shuttles again become a part of our evening news viewing, we should surely enjoy a spurt of technological growth which has lain dormant for years.

Consider the advancements we enjoyed as a result of the space race, from Corning Ware, Teflon and Tang orange drink to new knowledge of metals, plastics, and manufacturing techniques that have had an impact on every facet of our existence.

In the world of politics, we can only speculate as to what is ahead for our nation as a result of the personal persuasions of the leaders elected in our future.

The State of Michigan and the County of Wayne will be governed by the ability to act responsibly in providing what the people can not or will not provide for themselves. Hopefully, leaders will be wise enough to remember that as elected officials, they have been empowered by the people to serve. They were not deified.

Locally, we will no doubt continue to see massive changes in the nature and texture of our communities. Housing, retailing and industry will continue to experience wrenching changes as western Wayne County continues to evolve.

As changes and alternatives are presented to each of us, we must make choices. Our future will be determined by the judgements we make and the course of action we choose to follow.

Human nature seems to dictate that we choose change even when a trained eye would see that such a selection is foolhardy and in and of itself short-sighted.

Let us hope the world of tomorrow treats us kindly...that the world we create for ourselves is one that we, and those who follow, can endure. Let us hope that as we all make decisions which will determine the outcome of the world in which we live, we choose wisely.

One measure of a man, it's said, is his willingness to pay the price in both time and money to create or preserve that which will provide them no personal benefit.

It is, I fear, a selfish world, and yet I have hope. It is my New Years wish that more people would dedicate themselves to selfless service. That many would work with diligence for the betterment of society, improvement in the human condition and for a future in which our children and grandchildren would benefit.

Here's to the future. See you next week.

Community leaders set resolutions as calendar is turned for new year

JANUARY 1988

FRIDAY SATURDAY SUNDAY MONDAY

1 2 3 4

Sheila Stewart
Stewart, of Romulus, said, "Next year, I promise to be more patient with people and life in general. It's not much, but it is something to watch."

Mary Gatto
Gatto, of Canton, said, "Of course, I make New Year's resolutions. I always make at least one. This year, I'm going to lose weight. But I have to confess, I always start out serious and slack off during the rest of the year."

Jerry Brown

Jean Sebestyen
"I often make New Year's resolutions. But I haven't thought about it yet. One thing I know. We'll be out of this building and into the new library in 1988. It's exciting," said Sebestyen of Canton Township.

Gayle Mach
Mach, of Romulus, usually doesn't make resolutions. "I should. But I'm hard on myself when I don't follow through. So I'm not sure I'm going to make any this year. Although I have to get back into being more organized."

Michael Gorman
"I want to see to it that the city of Westland has a prosperous new year," said Gorman, the finance director of Westland.

Sharon Scott
"I never make New Year's resolutions unless I know that I can keep them. So the only one I'll probably have this year is to lose 10 pounds in time for my daughter's wedding in May," said Scott, president of the Wayne-Westland Board of Education.

Norma Collop
"I just hope the next year is better than the previous year. That is all you can really hope for," said Collop, of Wayne.

Carolyn Archbold
"I'd like to lose 5 pounds and also lose five strokes off my golf game," said Archbold, judge of the 29th District Court, Wayne.

George Demetrious
"I'd be happy with health and happiness for everyone. What else is there?" asked Demetrious, owner of the Golden Boy restaurant, Wayne.

Pat Birbeck
Birbeck, of the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce, has resolved to "continue to exert every effort to improve business in the Belleville area" in 1988.

Connie Brinkerhoff
"It's going to be great in '88," said September Days Senior Citizens Director Brinkerhoff. Her resolution is to make the new year "the best year ever."

Joan Oddy
Admitted workaholic Oddy, of Sumpter Township, knows her resolution should be to take it just a little bit easier. Instead, the Sumpter Township clerk plans to continue her work in service projects and programs in the area.

Pat Williams
"My New Year's resolution is one that I have made in the past - but this time I am going to keep it. Keep it off, that is. I have decided to lose some weight," said Williams, of Inkster.

Anderson C. Young
"I really haven't given it much thought, but I guess since I am in politics it will be to work harder to bring business to the city and make Inkster a better place to live."

Delphine Oden
"Keep positive, that's my resolution. I am going to try to keep myself positive about work and life, in general. Is that OK?"

Resolutions: Why do we make promises we can't keep?

By JOAN MARY DYER
Belleville City Editor

It is no wonder that people feel compelled to make resolutions at the beginning of the new year - it is a practice that has a long history.

According to Ben Helmke, director of Tamson Center, the new year has historically been viewed as a time to evaluate the past and assess the future. For example, he said, the Chinese New Year is marked by the payment of the debts of the previous year and a clearing up of old business. The Jewish Day of Atonement also is a time to "assess where you have been and where you plan to go," Helmke added.

Ancient celebrations at the time of the winter solstice also included plans for "starting over" in the next season, he said.

"There is a value in reflecting over what we have done in the past year and taking a look at where we are going in the new one," Helmke said. "One can't start over unless one first assesses where to start and where one plans to go."

Helmke emphasized the necessity of making realistic resolutions - ones that can be kept and which do not set us up for failure. For example, a resolution to lose weight is almost doomed to failure if it is made before the holiday party season.

The resolution also has a better chance of success, Helmke said, if one's lifestyle is considered when attempting to make the change. He advised people to be aware of their habits and life patterns and to keep them in consideration when they make their resolutions. For example he said, you are setting yourself up for failure if you attempt to diet without recognizing that it has been your habit to eat late evening snacks before retiring. Some changes in habits will be necessary to have success in keeping resolutions, Helmke said.

Helmke suggested that the new year may be a good time to look at our relationships with our families, co-workers and friends, and to set goals to improve relationships which are "out of kilter."

"It is a good time to think in terms of resolving the problems in our relationships," Helmke said. "Ask who are the people in my life who I have had rifts with and how can I improve those relationships? Then set some realistic goals - ones that you can look at next Dec. 31 and evaluate how successful you have been in attaining them."

Psssst! YOUR CHOLESTEROL AND YOUR HEART MAY BE HAVING AN UNHEALTHY RELATIONSHIP

By Mark D. Richter, M.D.

Every time a new medicine for the treatment of cholesterol is in the news, or another study has been done that shows the risks of having high cholesterol levels, you are reminded that it's not good for you. What is cholesterol, where does it come from, what does it do, and how does it affect your heart?

CHOLESTEROL IS FAT

Cholesterol is one of two major forms of fat found in the bloodstream. It enters the bloodstream through the food we eat and through the liver which manufactures cholesterol.

We vary greatly in the amount of cholesterol we absorb from our food, and the amount we manufacture. People on the same diet and under the same conditions can have much different cholesterol levels.

You may be surprised to know that none of us could survive without cholesterol. It's needed by our bodies to make hormones which regulate our body functions, to make bile salts which help digest food, and to make cell membranes.

TOO MUCH IS UNHEALTHY

Unfortunately, too much cholesterol is harmful and can lead to hardening of the arteries (atherosclerosis) which results in fatty deposits on blood vessel walls. These deposits block blood flow and, if severe enough, can cause heart attacks and strokes.

HOW MUCH IS TOO MUCH?

There are National Institute of Health guidelines for cholesterol levels. Lowering cholesterol by one percent can lower your risk of heart disease and strokes by two percent.

Eating foods that are lower in cholesterol and saturated fats may be all that is needed. However, for some, dietary measures are not enough and medication to lower cholesterol may be necessary.

OTHER RISK FACTORS

It's important to address other risk factors in the development of hardening of the arteries such as cigarette smoking, high blood pressure, diabetes, obesity, and the lack of exercise.

Find out your blood cholesterol level at a special five-day screening offered by Oakwood Health Services, at several locations from Jan. 5-9. The 30-minute "fingerstick" cholesterol analysis will be held Tuesday through Saturday at Oakwood Springwells Health Center, and Oakwood Health Information Center in the Fairlane Town Center mall. It also will be offered at several other Oakwood Health Services locations throughout the week. The Tuesday through Friday screenings will be held from 10 a.m.-7 p.m., and Saturday from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. The cost is $6.

Cooking

In the beginning...

Start the celebration with great hors d'oeuvres

By SUE WILLETT
ANP Executive Editor

Put down the broom, unplug the vacuum cleaner, let the dog continue chewing on junior's toy soldier and push the crumpled wrapping paper aside for just a minute.

While it may have escaped notice, New Year's Eve is almost here--and for nearly everyone, that means hitting the kitchen again for one more round of holiday cooking for guests. While the new year celebrations usually don't consist of the gigantic preparations necessary for the Christmas feast, let's face it, frosted date balls and sugar-cookie Santas just aren't appropriate for pre-party cocktails.

Whether going out on the town or staying in to herald the end of 1987 and the glorious beginning of 1988, a few nibbles are in order. And it isn't easy to create the perfect little hors d'oeuvres while chasing the cat out of the Christmas tree, sewing buttons back on doll's clothes and trying to get the foil icicles out of the vacuum cleaner.

There is help on the way. The Rockdale Ridge Press has produced a handy little cookbook that provides 350 recipes for cocktail treats. And most of them are quick, easy and very inexpensive.

It will be now be possible to pack the kids off to bed (or basement to play) and invite friends in for a glass of wine and hors d'oeuvres before departing to the gala party. And what could be a nicer surprise than a plate of homemade treats to take to your hostess New Year's Eve?

Some of these are excellent, and all seem easy to make.

Most, incidentally, can be done with a child underfoot, or clutched under one arm, the phone tucked under the ear and several other pots on the stove. Good luck and happy new year.

SPINACH DIP

1 package frozen, chopped spinach
1/2 cup chopped scallions
1/2 cup finely minced parsley
2 cups Hellmann's mayonnaise (Do not use any other brand.)
1 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon freshly ground pepper

Thaw spinach and squeeze out liquid. Mix all ingredients together and chill for 24 hours. Note: This is excellent with raw vegetables, and the kids will not get into it.

CRABMEAT DIP

2 6-ounce boxes frozen Alaska King Crab
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup sour cream
1/2 cup chopped celery

Thaw crab, which is pre-cooked if you got the right kind. Mix with the remaining ingredients and place in serving dish. Serve with crackers or party rye. Guaranteed not to be left over--so make as much as you can afford.

CREAM CHEESE BEEF LOG

1 8-ounce package cream cheese
1/3 cup Parmesan cheese
1/3 cup chopped olives
1 package (3 ounces) chipped beef

Combine all ingredients except beef, mixing well. Chop beef into small pieces. Roll cheese into log shape and then roll log in beef pieces, covering well. This can be made a day ahead and refrigerated.

CHIPPED BEEF SPREAD

3-ounce package chipped beef
3-ounce package cream cheese
1 teaspoon chopped parsley
1 small sweet pickle, chopped
1 tablespoon mayonnaise
Few drops onion juice
Dash garlic powder
1 Tablespoon Worcestershire sauce

Chop or dice beef and blend well with softened cream cheese, mayonnaise and seasonings. Serve with party rye and assorted crackers. (May be thinned with sour cream to make an excellent dip).

MINIATURE MEAT TURNOVERS

1 envelope Lipton Beef Flavor Mushroom Soup Mix
1/2 pound ground beef
1 cup drained bean sprouts
1/2 cup sliced water chestnuts
2 Tablespoons chopped onion
2 packages refrigerator crescent rolls

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. In medium skillet, combine first five ingredients and brown well. Separate crescent dough as package directs. Cut in half. Place spoonful to mixture in center of each triangle and fold over and seal edges. Place on ungreased cookie sheet and bake 15 minutes or until golden brown. Makes 32 turnovers.

DUCHESSES

1/2 cup butter
1/8 teaspoon salt
1 cup boiling water
1 cup sifted flour
3 eggs

Add butter and salt to boiling water and stir over medium heat until mixture boils. Reduce heat, add flour all at once and beat vigorously until mixture leaves the sides of pan. Remove from heat and add eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. Shape puffs very small, using about 1 teaspoon paste for each one. On greased cookie sheet, bake in hot oven, 450 degrees, for about 8 minutes or until points begin to brown, then reduce heat to moderate 350 degrees and continue baking 10 to 12 minutes longer. When cold, cut tops from duchesses, fold lower half and press top over filling.

Filling:

Cream Cheese and Ham

6 ounces cream cheese, softened
1 2 1/4-ounces can deviled ham
Catsup to moisten

Blend ingredients well and fill individual puffs.

GRILLED BEEF STRIPS

1 pound round steak, about 1 inch thick
1 clove garlic, thinly sliced
2 Tablespoons sherry
1 teaspoon sugar
1/3 cup soy sauce
1 inch piece of fresh ginger, thinly sliced or 1 teaspoon ground ginger

Remove fat from meat and slice very thin. (It is easier to do if meat is partially frozen.) Mix remaining ingredients and marinate meat strips in mixture for at least one-half-hour. Thread meat on wooden sticks and broil until just done. Serve hot.

RUSSIAN MEAT BALLS

1 pound ground chuck
1 cup diced onion
1 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon lemon pepper
1/4 teaspoon paprika
1 egg
1/2 cup catsup as needed
2 Tablespoons shortening
2 slices white bread

Saute onions in shortening. Make crumbs of bread slices and add to meat. Mix with 2 tablespoons catsup, egg, salt, paprika and lemon pepper. Shape into 20 meatballs and place on top of onions. Sprinkle with additional salt, lemon pepper, paprika and remaining catsup. Simmer, covered, on low heat 1 1/2 hours.

DEVILED HAM PUFFS

1 8-ounce package cream cheese
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1 cup water
1 egg yolk
2 2-1/4-ounce cans deviled ham
30-35 small rounds of white bread

Blend cheese, baking powder, milk and egg yolk together. Toast bread rounds on one side. Spread untoasted side with deviled ham, cover with a mound of cheese mixture. Bake at 375 degrees for 10 to 12 minutes or until puffed and slightly browned. These can be made ahead and baked when ready to serve.

and missed an opportunity of icing the victory when he missed the front end of a one-on-one. Belleville again came back and this time set up Anthony Bellinger.

Bellinger's short jumper also failed, but 6-3 senior forward LaMar Robinson was right there under the boards. He grabbed the rebound and went up with the ball, placing it in the basket for the decisive two points.

"It was a good victory for us for a number of reasons," Garland noted. "First it helped our program and, secondly, we won without some of our key players."

Beside Brantley, Belleville also went into the game without the services of his younger brother, Andre, who suffered a asthmatic attack shortly after the game began. Chris King also missed the game with an eye injury.

Bellinger and Arthur Goldston shared individual scoring honors for the Tigers. Each had 15. Robinson finished with 10, including the winning basket, while Dar-rick Coleman had 12.

Trenton's sharpshooting guard, Charlie Teichart, finished with the game high 24.

Earlier in the week, the Tigers snapped a two-game losing streak at the expense of non-conference rival, Northville. Belleville stashed this one away with a 21-9 first period assault as Tilman scored eight of his 12 and Coleman all of his six points in the opening frame.

Belleville held a 35-26 edge at intermission, then went on and outscored their rivals 18-16 and 10-8 in the final two periods.

Bellinger, with 13, led the Tiger shooters who also received 12 from Tilman and 11 points from Cico Crout.

If Belleville is to make it three straight, it will have to come at the expense of Westland John Glenn. The two area rivals clash Jan. 5 at Glenn. The Tigers pick up the Wolverine 'A' Conference trail on Jan. 8 when an always tough Monroe invades Belleville.

on the sidelines

A TEEN SKI trip is planned by the Canton Parks and Recreation Department Friday, Jan. 8 at Alpine Valley Ski Area. Participants will leave the township administration building at 5 p.m. and return at approximately 12:15 a.m. Cost is $10 for those with their own equipment, $17 for those who need equipment. For more information, call 397-5100.

IN BOWLING ACTION, Ron Rajda received a very special Christmas present Thursday night, a present that most people will never receive. During the Thursday night House League at the Lodge Lounge and Lanes, 46255 Willow Run Exp., Belleville, Rajda rolled a perfect 300 game. He finished the night with 647 series. Other top scores at the Lodge included Ken Kujala, who rolled a 279 game and a 732 series, and George Fineran who bowled a 753 series.

At the Oak Lanes, 8450 Middlebelt Road, Westland, the pins were falling, and the scores were rising as Tom Leonard rolled 676 series, Tim Saunders rolled a 256 game, Frank Ashcraft bowled a 266 game and a 670 series, and Gary Owens bowled a 238 game.

Keeping an eye on Trenton's Liam Hart (4), Belleville's Anthony Bellinger (white jersey) is out of reach for the steal. And Bellinger and his teammates didn't let the Trojans steal one in their last conference outing. After leading until the last 30 seconds, Belleville surrendered the lead and was forced to come up with the decisive basket in the last seconds thanks to LaMar Robinson who sank a short jumper to ice a 61-60 victory. Belleville greets 1988 on the basketball court at Westland John Glenn, a team that is having its share of problems winning this season. ANP photo by Memory Photographic of Belleville

Let it snow!

The fact that Mother Nature dumped more than 7 inches of snow on the area Monday was a hindrance to hundreds of motorists — but a blessing to Kevin Miller, 9, and Mike Martin, 10, of Canton Township. The two youngsters quickly hauled their sled from the garage and made good use of the blanket of winter white snow for their own recreational purposes. ANP photo by Ann-Grimes/staff photographer

Westland Bowl gets 2 perfect games

By TERRY JACOBY ANP Staff Writer

As the weather turns inclement, people look for indoor recreation, and many turn to bowling. The goal for any bowler is the perfect 300-game and two bowlers in Westland accomplished just that last week.

Frank Mikolajczyk and Ron Matney rolled the 300s at the Westland Bowl, 5940 N. Wayne Road, Westland. Mikolajczyk bowled the 300 game on Saturday night in the Ball and Chain League. Matney, who finished with a 750 series, bowled his perfect game on Wednesday night in the West Side Senior House League.

Other top scores at the Westland Bowl included Pat Favard (606 series), Bev Liverance (600 series), Jim Bowman (723 series) and Tony Sword (704 series).

Gary Omodio bowled a near-perfect game at the Wayne Bowl, 36900 Michigan Ave., Wayne. Omodio bowled a 299. Craig Senkowski bowled a series-high 703.

The Town and Country Lanes, 46255 Willow Run Exp., Belleville had some outstanding scores turned in during the week.

Ranea Paiva bowled a 659 series, Cindy Adkins bowled a 258 game, Dan Harrison bowled a 299 game, Ed O'Hair bowled a 289 game and Len Hobson bowled a 724 series.

Rick Marisnick bowled a 708 series and Mike Lafav bowled a 275 game at the Super Bowl, 45100 Ford Road, Canton.
